AGAINST THE ANGELO CAFE.

Boston, April 7.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy has been filed at the instance of creditors against the Angelo Cafe Inc. The petitioning creditors are the H. C. Edwards Coffee company, Alfred Sears & Co., and Hopkins & Holden, all of Boston. They allege, as an act of bankruptcy, that the corporation transferred a large part of its property to Caspar Berry, the Suffolk Brewing company, and the New England Brewing company, with intent to delay, hinder and defraud other creditors.

The Angelo has been conducted as an Italian restaurant at 340 Washington street and extended through to 19 and 21 Hawley street. The place was closed Saturday.

APPEALS TO STUDENTS.

Gompers Asks Columbia Boys to Improve Labor Conditions.

New York, April 7.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, talked to the students of Columbia university on "Justice in Labor Disputes." He said in part:

"Strikes, boycotts and lockouts are evils which it is our duty to make unnecessary. I hope to see the labor men prevent all such things. But it is necessary that the workers be organized to check greed. There is one thing at least which is worse than strikes and that is a demoralized and depraved manhood."

Many of Mr. Gompers' listeners were students in engineering courses. He urged them, when in mining camps, to see that the labor conditions there were what they should be.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

"Lena Rivers" Thursday Afternoon. Marie Doran Wins.

James Foster Miliken, attorney for Marie Doran in her suit with Burton Nixon, writes: "The second motion of Burton Nixon for a preliminary injunction in the United States circuit court for the eastern district of New York, was decided by Judge Chatfield on March 17 in favor of Marie Doran. The suit was brought by Nixon to restrain Miss Doran from presenting the play 'Lena Rivers,' the copyright of which in its original book form expired several years ago. It was claimed by the complainant that the defendant's version of the play followed closely the dramatization used by the complainant, but the court ruled that as both dramatizations were made from the same book, even though there was a similarity of ideas in both plays in parts not taken from the book, that it is impossible to determine that one work is a substantial infringement of the original parts or arrangement of the other. The application was therefore denied."

Adam Good company present a complete scenic production of Marie Doran's authentic dramatization which abounds with refined comedy instead of a pocket edition of small reservoirs for the leading lady as in "East Lynne." Miss Pingree will appear in a bona fide director gown, designed by M. Dumay, Paris, France, during this play.

NORTHFIELD

E. D. Treadwell and family, who have been residing in the Dole house at the Center for several months, have stored their goods and will return to their former home in Malden, Mass.

Miss Lena Clark has tendered her resignation as teacher in the high school, on account of ill health; the same has been accepted and will take effect at once. The board of directors have secured a teacher from New Hampshire to take her place.

J. L. Burns began the work of erecting his large, new granite shed Monday. The lumber is largely on the ground and are the foundation stones. The work will be pushed forward rapidly. With one large modern granite shed completed and another under way the outlook for the granite business is more than holding its own in Northfield is certainly flattering.

Miss Mary E. Doherty completed her duties as teacher in the graded school, last week and went Saturday to Montpelier and commenced her new work as teacher in the city schools Monday. The teachers of the high and graded school presented Miss Doherty a handsome silver mounted, eight piece manicure set as a token of remembrance, which shows the high esteem in which she is held by the teachers.

MAY DISBAND CO. F.

People of Northfield Are Being Urged to Save Their Militia.

Northfield, April 7.—The prospect that Northfield may be disbanded by the Vermont National Guard, is stirring the people of the community into action, and a call has been issued for a meeting to-morrow evening to see what can be done about strengthening the company to comply with the law. The call for the meeting is as follows:

"We are asking you to attend a meeting of those interested in the keeping Company F at Northfield, this meeting to be held at armory hall on Thursday, April 8, at 8 p. m. This meeting is called because of the fact that unless immediate steps are taken to strengthen this company, it will be mustered out of service without delay and Northfield will be without representation in the Vermont National Guard. This statement is authorized by the state authorities, who have consented to giving this one further opportunity to build up and retain the company.

"This condition is not due to any neglect or failure on the part of the company officers, but to the fact that for various reasons the attendance at drills has been so poor on the part of the non-commissioned officers and privates now in the organization. The United States Inspector as a result of his inspection, March 24 has recommended that the company be disbanded on this account. There are not many young men in Northfield at the present time, and in fact that unless we can get you to take an active interest in this matter, the company will be disbanded and a new organization be created elsewhere. It is the intention of the undersigned to save the company with your help. A thorough reorganization will be necessary. Come and help—we need you. Remember the date."

This call is signed by W. B. Mayo, H. W. Orser, M. D. Smith, Charles A. Plimley and W. E. C. Washburn.

Very few people are aware of the conditions now existing in the National Guard. Under the present laws each company must have 24 drills prior to June 30, each of which drills must be attended by 67 per cent of the actual enrolled membership. Should the number of drills with this attendance be less than the required number, the war department must, under the law, refuse to accept the organization as part of the Vermont National Guard. The result of Company F's failure, therefore, would be not only to cause its muster out, but would also result in cutting out the entire First Infantry, as under the law only 12 company regiments can be considered as part of the National Guard.

During the present fiscal year, Vermont is drawing a total of $47,000 from the United States government for the support of the Vermont National Guard. The failure of even one company to meet the requirements as to efficiency, drills, or attendance, would be to deprive the state of this sum for the remaining year. In view of this fact, the state authorities have to disband Company F at once unless it meets the requirements, so as to permit the organization of a new company elsewhere which will be able to put in the required number of drills between now and June 30. The situation is critical and unless the response is immediate and general, Northfield must lose its representation in the National Guard.

Under the United States laws, the minimum number of enlisted men in the company must be 55. Every one of these men must be of good social standing in his community, of high intellectual ability as well as of strong physique. The present strength of the company present in town is but 30. Many of these men have not attended drills this year—in fact, there has not been a single drill this year which has met the requirements as to attendance. Such men as have habitually failed to attend drills will have to be discharged and at least 30 to 40 new men must be enlisted, who will attend at least 24 drills between now and June 30. It is necessary that these new men shall be representative of the town; young men of good standing in every way.

HOOKED IN THE EYE.

Mrs. Mary Broggi of Northfield Meets With Serious Accident.

Northfield, April 7.—Mrs. Mary Broggi met with a peculiar accident yesterday at her home at the corner of Water and Wall streets. While purchasing meat from one of H. C. Moseley's carts the driver, Fred Brown, reached with the meat hook for a chicken in the front end and while drawing it forward striking Mrs. Broggi in the left eye. Physicians were summoned but the hemorrhage was so severe that it could not be determined as to the extent of the injury to the sight.

Mrs. Broggi immediately decided to go to a hospital in Montreal, which has very successfully treated a number of severe accidents to the eyes of stonecutters here and she left on the 8:30 train accompanied by an attendant. It is hoped that the wound may not result in the loss of the sight of the eye.

IRON AGE Implements

Save Time, Labor and Money

For seventy years Iron Age Implements have been helping farmers and gardeners everywhere to produce better crops with less labor, and every year marks some new improvement where improvement is possible. Today there is no combination of farm and garden tools so well calculated to save time, labor and money as the Iron Age implements.

A Few of Them Described

The No. 6 Iron Age Double and Single Wheel Hoe, Hill and Drill Seeder, with one pair of handles and the interchangeable parts will open the furrow, plant, cover, make level, weed, hoe and cultivate with half the work and twice the speed of hand methods. It's a winner from start to finish.

The No. 1 Iron Age Double and Single Wheel Hoe is just the tool for a small garden, handy for a woman or boy. Very light, and easy running on account of the high wheels. Will pay for its keep in a week's time.

No. 110 Orchard and Variety Cultivator, designed for the orchardist, but available for all purposes common to the fruit grower. Can be used as a fallow plow; opening furrows for irrigating or planting purposes and is a strong all-round cultivator that will make the orchard pay.

The No. 8 Iron Age Hill and Drill Seeder is light, simple, strong and easy to use. The seed box per holds four quarts and delivers fine or coarse seed properly and evenly with accurate spacing. An invaluable tool for large gardens or market and farm gardens.

The Iron Age Improved Horizontal Potato Planter an invaluable time saver for the potato farmer. Drops one hundred per cent of seed from 4 to 7 inches per day. No doubling, no bruising, no broken seed. This machine, like all Iron Age implements, will stand the hard knocks of real service, and may also be used with entire satisfaction in planting peas, beans and corn.

The Iron Age Four Row Sprayer is a positive economy on all farms where successful potato culture is desired. Rapid and thorough in its work, preventing blight and bugs, making better crops, larger yields, and assuring better quality. Has orchard attachment.

If you want to save time, save labor, and make money, it will pay you to write for Iron Age. Our new book for 1909, describing in detail these money saving implements as well as Iron Age Horse Dredges, Riding and Walking Cultivators, Spring Tooth Cultivators, Fertilizer Distributors, etc.

It will soon be planting time. Write for the book now. A postal card will bring it to you.
